

Bula, my friend!

It's me, Yasi, Banjo's Fijian cousin!

I was so happy that Banjo decided to come and visit. Of course, I'd heard ALL about him on the catvine, so I was VERY keen to meet the guy himself!

It turns out that Banjo already knew lots about the world (including how to make sushi, who built the Taj Mahal AND how to tell the difference between a sea lion and a cat in a wetsuit) ... But I did get to teach him one important thing which he'd never heard of before... SEGA NA LEQA!

Sega na leqa is a Fijian phrase which means 'no worries', and we use it all the time.

If your cousin gets his tail in a twist - sega na leqa!...

If your bird-friend burns the breakfast... Sega na leqa!

And if you're just chilling out in a hammock on the beach like me, it's SEGA NA LEQA, every time.

Banjo says he's had a great time in Fiji and is heading to Mongolia today. He's so relaxed that I was worried he was going to miss his boat, but you can imagine what his response was...

'Sega na leqa, Yasi! It will all work out fine in the end!'

Sounds like Banjo is almost as Fijian as I am!

Sending hugs from your new friend,

Yasi
